SUN SMARTS

Neutrogena and TEEN VOGUE are traveling across the country to select high schools for the Sun Smarts Tour which dispels the myths about sun exposure and gives students powerful skin-saving tips. At the Apollo High School in LA, the suncare message was clear: There's no such thing as a safe tan. Students learned that sun exposure happens all year long—even on cloudy days. A performance by up-and-coming artist Cheyenne Kimball capped off the assembly.

Your Skin. Your Choice.
